

HOME SUNDAY, GENERAL BELIEF AMONG THE BOYS

Participation in Philadelphia
Celebration Today Last Duty
Required of Them.

WILL NOT PARADE HERE

"As soon as we get off the train, Home We Go," They Tell Joseph Bowyitz Who Visits Camp and Is Royally Entertained; Bowe Dead.

Company D boys are beginning to be quite certain they will be home on Sunday at the latest, and are plain in their declarations that they don't want a parade or demonstration. The discharge papers and service records have been completed, this work being done on the transport on the way over. Nothing remains now but to take part in the parade in Philadelphia today, undergo the last physical examination and sign the payroll.
Then the coveted discharges and transportation home will be given.

This information was brought back to the city by Joseph Bowyitz who returned home yesterday morning after spending Monday and Tuesday at Camp Dix with the men of Company D and the Medical Detachment. The men will talk of nothing but home and the prospects for getting back immediately, he says, and are unanimous in their declarations that nothing can hold them once they get a discharge—
"and as soon as we get off the train, home we go; no parade for us," they all declare. There are rumors in the camp that the discharges will be given out on Friday afternoon but most of the boys declare they will be satisfied
if they can reach Connellsville by Sunday.

A Connellsville visitor at Camp Dix is a royal guest. The boys take him for their very own and keep him for meals. Rather than talk about the happenings over there the boys want to be the audience and listen to the news of their "dear old Connellsville." Bowyitz saw his brother, William, at the camp. "Bill" had been released, and was home. The entire company went through the "delousing mill" on Tuesday morning, and the men felt like new after they had completed their "bath."

Tuesday night the company had the biggest treat in more than a year.
Twenty-five gallons of ice cream, orange and cake were supplied to satisfy the full wants of every one.
The boys hung around all afternoon thinking the time for evening mess would never come, but once they got started on that ice cream the 25 gallons looked like so many quarts.

The boys talk little of the happenings over there and are modest about telling of any individual exploits. The entire company is unanimous in declaring the air-raid undergone while quartered in a forest was the worst experience suffered during the entire war. Several members of the company have been mentioned for citations. The men say more would have been mentioned only D Company always lost its officers, either in killed or wounded when it went over the top, there being no written report of the action turned in.

The boys believe Samuel Rowe of the West Side was killed by the explosion of a big shell. Rowe was a member of a squad among which a shell fell. Only the corporal survived, his back being blown from his back.
All other members of the squad were either killed or missing.

The boys of Company D think a world of Colonel Joe Thompson says Bowyitz. Every one mentions him and there is nothing a Company D man would not do for the commanding officer.

Bowyitz did not get to see Connellsville members of the third battalion who came in on Monday aboard the Santa Olivia. The battalion was in another part of the camp and he did not have time to locate it.
He saw Frank Freeman of the West Side, who had been in a German prison camp. He says Freeman is in the best of health and has taken on weight. The soldier will tell little of his experience in the German prison.
He also saw Hugo Muler of the band who helped him to locate the other Connellsville boys.

Two Long Trains Carry Troops To ward Homes in New York.

Two trains of returned soldiers, members of the 32nd Division, from the Central West, passed through Connellsville this morning on their way home. A happy lot they were and presented a fine appearance.

An Italian restaurant near the bridge, the only one close by did more business in the few minutes the train stopped than in days at a stretch.

Bank Statements Called.
WASHINGTON, May 15.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for the condition of all national banks at the close of business on Monday, May 12.

Sent to Hospital.
Mrs. Thomas H. McGuire of Highland avenue was admitted to the city hospital this morning. She has been seriously ill for some time.

LUNCH, SALVATION ARMY STYLE, DURING THE CELEBRATION

Program is Mapped Out by Street Fair
Committee; Overseas Workers
May Assist.

Hot doughnuts, cocoa and coffee,
such as were handed out to the soldiers in the trenches by the Salvation army lassies, will be served in Connellsville during the home-coming celebration for the soldiers, providing plans now on foot are carried out.
The coming of the Salvation Army workers was discussed at a meeting of the Street Fair Committee held last night in Dr. Clyde S. Campbell's office and it was decided to take up the matter with Captain Kinn of the local Salvation Army.

Salvation Army workers recently returning from France and now located in Greensburg have offered their aid in the celebration. A stand from which they will serve will be erected in case arrangements are made for their participation in the celebration.
The committee also discussed the purchase of pennants and badges but no definite action was taken. As the electrical display will be ready for use the street fair will open on the Friday night preceding the beginning of the celebration, will be continued on Saturday night and will be in full swing when the big time begins. The committee announced that there would be no carnival. Plenty of other amusements will be provided.

NEGRO MINISTER IS WANTED FOR KILLING BROWNSVILLE WOMAN

Mrs. Alice English Found With Bullet
Hole in Head; Rev. John A.
Wilson is Missing.

The police of Brownsville and Uniontown are looking for Rev. John A.
Wilson, an alleged colored preacher, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Alice English, 35 years old, at her home in the Hiller addition at Brownsville. She was found last night in the basement of her home with a bullet wound in the head.
Wilson was seen by Mrs. English's children to leave the house after the shooting and as he went out he said:
"There, I guess you'll be good now for a while." The children were too frightened to go in but peering through a window could see their mother lying on the floor. They called neighbors who discovered the woman was dead.

NON-PARTISAN ELECTIONS

Will Be Eliminated if Eyre Bill Is Enacted Into a Law.

HARRISBURG, May 15.—The opinion seems to be general that an organized attempt will be made to put legislation through repealing the non-partisan election laws that were expected by the Wilson bill which repeals the non-partisan law for third-class cities.

The Senate committee has reported the Eyre bill which provides for the elimination of the non-partisan nomination and election of judges. Originally the bill related only to judges in judicial districts. It has since been amended to include a repeal of all non-partisan judicial elections. The bill has already passed the first reading. The attitude of Governor Sproul with respect to the Wilson bill, now before him, will undoubtedly determine the fate of the new bill. He favors the repeal of non-partisan election laws, but does not consider the present an opportune time for such legislation.

RIGHT OF EMINENT DOMAIN

To Water and Electric Power Companies Is Proposed.

HARRISBURG, May 15.—The Senate

by the governor, will repeal the Act of April 15, 1905, which prohibited water companies from exercising the right of eminent domain, respecting the appropriation of streams, rivers or waters of the lands covered thereby.

The Daix bill giving electric power companies the right of eminent domain was held over until Monday night.

Massive Air Ship Will Probably At-

Britain; Has Good Record Thus Far

By Associated Press.
TREPASSEY, Newfoundland, May 15.—
Commander John H. Towers, chief of the American seaplane division, announced today that the NC 1 and NC 3 might start before nightfall
for the Azores.

The commander stated that if the NC 4 left Trepassey 12 hours later than her sister planes she would be able to make the flight to Lisbon in their company. The trans-Atlantic voyage could not be delayed much longer, he said, because the destroyers in the warship patrol were exhausting their fuel.

HALIFAX, May 15.—The American naval seaplane NC 4, after leaving Halifax this morning for Trepassey, Newfoundland, descended at Musquoddoui harbor, owing to engine trouble, but resumed her flight at 11:47
A. M., New York time.

ST. JOHNS, May 15.—The American Naval dirigible C-5 scheduled for a possible non-stop flight from this port to the British Isles, arrived here today
after a day and night cruise on Mon-tauk Point, N. Y.

The C-5 is ready for a flight across the Atlantic. Lieutenant Commander Coll declared as he stepped out of the dirigible's basket. Both the crew and the machine stood the trip well, he said. As yet, he added, no orders had been issued for future movements.

The C-5 reached the Quidi-vidi anchorage at 9:45 New York time. The start from Montauk Point was made at 8 A. M. yesterday.

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, May 15.—Pittsburgh's street car system was paralyzed today by a strike of 3,000 motormen and

Despite the stop the city was on the move. Vehicles of all kinds were pressed into service to accommodate thousands of persons in Pittsburgh and outlying districts. Shuttle train service between Pittsburgh and suburbs was put on by the railroads and indications early today were that many of the industrial and business workers of the city would reach their respective places of employment with little inconvenience.

TROLLEY OFFICIALS GIVEN INFORMATION THEY MUST BELIEVE

Rain Emphasizes Paving Argument of Mount Pleasant Solons.

ARE COMPELLED TO WADE IN MUD

While Traction Heads Are on Visit to Town Various Matters of Vital Importance to Community Are Laid Before Them by Members of Council

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 15.—On their recent visit here to make a study of alleged unfair fare some arrangements other matters of interest to the people of the community, officials of the West Penn Railways company were given some unexpected intimate knowledge along one line. A severe rain storm came to the aid of the complainants. One of the matters the borough has urged on the West Penn has been the paving of Cherry alley where the car lines intersect at the foot of Main street. The company has not been in a great hurry to acquiesce.

While the officials including President A. W. Linn and Vice President William Fish were at the station that day rain came down in torrents overflowing the streets where the cars stop for passengers, to entrain and detrain. Borough officials saw an excellent opportunity to show the traction officials just how conditions were and they promptly led them through the mud and water to the car and back again.

Since then they have more hope that the traction company will meet the borough half way in the proposed paving.

The revised fare zones of the company were thoroughly discussed.

Previously passengers from Mount Pleasant to Tarr were given transfers to Ruffsdale. Now an extra nickel is charged those going to Ruffsdale. Under the old arrangement a five-cent fare carried the passenger from Mount Pleasant to Ruffs. Now it is good only to Morewood and an extra five cents is charged to Ruffs making a dime in all the extra distance being only a quarter of a mile. Another complaint was concerning the fare to Hecla. This fare was five cents. Now it is ten. The traction heads were asked to make this fare five cents. Equalization of the fare zones between Mount Pleasant and Hecla is sought so that this place will again be given its share of the business from intermediate points. Latrobe being favored under the present arrangement because of the lesser travel charges.

A year ago the West Penn asked the borough's permission to place a switch in Cherry avenue at the intersection with Main street for the purpose of providing passing facilities. This place being preferable to Standard. In turn the borough asked the West Penn to run the Latrobe cars to College avenue instead of to the foot of Main street to accommodate the shoppers from Latrobe so that they would not be required to carry packages to the foot of the hill to get cars. An ordinance granting permission to lay the switch was drawn. The West Penn accepted the terms and that was the end. This matter was again presented to the officials last week but no definite answer was given. The town officials who are still hopeful something will be done. The borough is planning to pave Cherry alley and has asked the West Penn to put in the siding now or not at all. Promise to place the switch was made at a recent conference in Pittsburgh.

Demand that the trolley company pave its portion of Cherry avenue is also made. If no answer is forthcoming by today the borough will proceed to pave its share and place a curb at the edge of the paved portion which will make it inconvenient for the West Penn and its patrons as long as the remainder is unpaved.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent, or more than one third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, laxatives and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

SEVERE SERVICE OF 110TH SHOWN BY THE RECORD OF EVENTS DURING 11 MONTHS

The following outline of the principal events in the history of the 110th Infantry, from the date of its departure overseas to its return to the soil of the Keystone state gives eloquent testimony of the able and gallant manner in which it performed its part in the Great War.

The regiment left Camp Hancock Ga., with a total strength of 106 officers and 3,235 enlisted men. During the time it was engaged in active operations it received approximately 3,000 replacements. Its losses were as follows:

Officers 27 killed, two died, 11 prisoners and missing, 110 wounded. Enlisted men 538 killed; 12 died, 457 prisoners and missing, 2,716 wounded.

Total 565 killed, 14 died, 468 prisoners and missing; 2,825 wounded. Grand total of casualties, 3,872 or 112 per cent.

In the case of men still reported missing Lieutenant Samuel C. Crouse of C Company was undoubtedly killed, although afterwards when the regiment recaptured the ground south of the Marne no trace of him could be found. His son, Private Samuel C. Crouse, Jr., saw his father shot down by orders of a German officer at the same time that Private William Zimmerman of the same company was killed. The officer and private were trying singlehanded to rescue one of their comrades who was in the hands of 30 Germans.

During the period between July 15 and September 7 the regiment captured the towns of Clerges, Villetta Magnaux, Baelieux and Gienness. It captured approximately 60 machine guns, several pieces of artillery and took several hundred prisoners. Its total advance in the face of enemy opposition was approximately 10 kilometers.

In the Argonne offensive this regiment alone captured the towns of Petite, Bourenelle, Vereanes, Montblainville, Apremont, Leforge and Pleinchaum and assisted in the capture of Chateau Chery and Hills 232 and 344. During this period the regiment made an advance of 10½ kilometers and captured 10 heavy and 80 light machine guns, seven pieces of artillery, two minenwerfers, five anti tank guns, three locomotives and a large number of railroad cars, 15 wagons six one-pounders, 1,000 rifles, 200 pistols and great quantities of artillery, machine gun, trench mortar and rifle ammunition grenades pyrotechnics, clothing, food, forage wire and electrical and engineering material.

It took 800 prisoners and inflicted more than 1,000 casualties on the enemy in repelling three counter attacks. The following is the chronological record of events in the history of the regiment.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it is done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and lock years younger.

THE SOISSON.

"THE SAVAGE WOMAN"—Presenting Clara Kimball Young, supported by Milton Sills and other prominent players, is being shown today. The role is vastly different from any in which Miss Young has ever appeared. It takes the celebrated star far away from her usual society play and shows her to exceptional advantage as Renee, daughter of a French trader, dorelle in Abyssinia. When her father leaps to his death the girl wanders away and finds herself in the ruins of an old palace once belonging to the queen of Sheba. Here she is mistaken for the incarnated queen herself, and desired by the native prince as his bride. She is frightened, and blinds him with the flashes from her mirror while she makes her escape. Fleeing once more, she is shot by a French explorer. Lerier He binds up the slight wound and, struck with her dusky beauty, takes her back to France. Here Renee is happy until she learns two unheard of things—jealousy, and the fact that a marriage ceremony is desirable. Renee destroys a precious relic given to Lerier by his former sweetheart. Then overcome by remorse she decides to replace it. Lerier discovers that he loves Renee when it is too late and thinking her dead, is drawn back to his old haunts. He is captured by the natives and is about to be sacrificed when Renee appears and saves him. Tomorrow and Saturday Mabel Normand, supported by John Bowers, will appear in "Sis Hopkins."

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE QUICKENING FLAME"—The new World picture starring Montague Love and June Elvidge is being presented today. The picture is a surprising one. It presents a startling situation in a gripping manner and leads the spectators through a series of thrilling episodes to the climax. It is interesting and entertaining in every foot of the film. Mr. Love is seen in the role of John Steele, a wealthy American, who has been badly used by a woman and who is even more roughly used by her later in life than at the first instance. Miss Elvidge appears in the role of the woman, but while the part is apparently unsympathetic, this woman eventually demonstrates in a decidedly conclusive manner that she is possessed of a big heart and a true womanly nature. After marrying Mabel Bell Steele finds she is not the sort of a woman he thought her to be. He comes to America and later reads in a newspaper the account of Mabel's death. Then Steele marries again. After five years of happy married life Mabel and her partner a partially paralyzed man by the name of Harlow, discovered that Steele had married again and came of this surprising situation of David Graham Phillips' greatest comedy is also being shown. Friday So Harlow and Mabel come to America and Saturday Lillian Walker will be featured in "The Grain of Dust," one of the most startling and surprising comedies of David Graham Phillips' greatest

Jacqueline of Golden River

by Victor Rousseau

Copyright W. G. Chapman

I stepped within, and, striking a match, perceived that I was standing inside a vast cave—a vaulted chamber that ran apparently straight into the heart of the mountains.

The interior was completely dark. At intervals I struck matches from the box which I had brought with me, but the road, always run clear and straight ahead and I could even guide myself by the ruts in the ground.

I advanced cautiously until the light grew quite bright; I saw the tunnel end in front of me, and emerged into an open space in the heart of the hills.

I glanced at my watch. It seemed that I had been traveling for an interminable time, but it was barely eleven o'clock. I felt drowsy, and somehow, before I was aware of any fatigue, I was asleep.

It was three o'clock when I awoke, and at first, as always since my journey began, I could not remember where I was. And, as always, it was the thought of Jacqueline that recalled me to my surroundings.

I sprang to my feet and made hasty preparations to resume my journey.

In the first cave that I explored I found a stock of provisions—flour and canned meats and matches—snuggly stored away safe from the damp and snow. Near by were picks and shovels and three very reputable blankets, with a miscellaneous of materials suggestive of the camping party's outfit.

I might have been more surprised then I was, but my thoughts were all centered on Jacqueline and the waning of the light showed me that the sun must be well down in the sky. I must go on at once if I were to reach the chateau that night.

As I proceeded I kept looking to the left to endeavor to locate the narrow passage into which I had strayed, but it must have been the merest opening in the wall, so small that only a miracle of chance had led me into it, for I saw nothing but the straight passage before me.

Presently I began to hear a murmur of water in the distance and then a faint flicker of light.

The thunder of the cataracts filled my ears. A fine spray, like a garment of filmy silk, obscured my clearer vision; but through and beyond it, between two torrents that sailed about like crystal bows, I saw the chateau before me.

CHAPTER XII.

The Roulette Wheel

The building stood far back beneath the overhanging ledge and seemed to be secured against the living rock. It was evident that there was no other approach except the tunnel through which I had come, for all around the land that turbulent whirlpool raved where the two cataracts contended for the mastery of the waters.

It was almost dark now and growing bitterly cold. I felt in my pocket for my pistol and loaded it with the two cartridges that alone remained of the lot I had brought with me. Then I advanced stealthily until I stood beneath the cataract; and here I found the spray no longer drenched me. I came upon a door in the dark wing and, turning the handle noiselessly, found myself inside the chateau. And at once my ears were filled with yells and coarse laughter in men's and women's voices.

As my eyes became accustomed to my surroundings I perceived that I was standing near the foot of an uncarpeted wooden stairway. There was a dark room with an open door immediately in front of me and another at the further end of the passage, from beneath which a glimmer of light issued. It was from this room that the sounds of laughter and music came.

I turned to the left, and advancing I suddenly found myself face to face with Philippe Lacroix.

He was seated at a table in a room writing, and I came right upon the door before I was aware of it. I saw his thin face with the little upturned mustache and the cold sneer about the mouth; and I think I should have shot him if he had looked up. But he not steadily, and I crept back from the door.

I turned back and followed the corridor to the right and came to a little hall toward the rear of the building. Beyond me was an open door, and behind it I saw the dull glow of a stove and felt its heat.

I approached cautiously and looked in.

Facing me, above a cracked and ancient mirror, were two rusty broadswords, and in the mirror I saw a large oaken table reflected. Seated at it, clothed in a threadbare coat of very ancient fashion, was an old man with long, snow-white hair and a white, foiled beard. He was busily transferring a stack of gold pieces from his right to his left side; and then he began scribbling on a sheet of paper. He paid me not the smallest attention as I entered.

I perceived that the top of the table was very curiously designed. It was marked off with squares and columns, and in each square were figures in black and red. Upon one end of the table at which the old man sat was a cup shaped, circular affair of very dark wood—teak, it resembled—once delicately inlaid with pearl. But now most of the inlay had disappeared, leaving unsightly holes.

At the bottom of the cup were a number of metallic compartments, and the whole interior portion was revolving slowly at a turn of the old man's fingers.

The ball stopped and settled in one of the compartments, and the old man drew a goldpiece from one of the squares on the table, transferred a little pile of gold from his right side to his left, and jotted down some figures upon his paper.

And suddenly I was aware of an abnormal rage that filled me. It seemed like an abnormal dream. I had endured so much for Jacqueline, to find myself immeshed in such things in the end. I stepped forward and swept the entire heap of gold into the center of the table.

"M. Duchaine!" I shouted. "Why are you playing the fool here when your daughter is suffering persecution?"

The old man seemed to be aware of my presence for the first time. He looked up at me out of his mild old eyes and shook his head in apparent perplexity.

"You are welcome, monsieur," he said, half rising with a courtly air. "Do you wish to stake a few pieces in a game with me?"

He gathered up a handful of the coins and pushed them toward me.

"You see, monsieur, I have a system—at least I nearly have a system," he went on eagerly. "But it may not be so good as yours. Come. You shall be the banker and see if you can win my money from me. But we shall return the stakes afterward."

"M. Duchaine!" I shouted in his ear. "Where is your daughter?"

"My daughter?" he repeated in mild surprise. "Ah, yes; she has gone to New York to make our fortune with the system. But make your play, monsieur."

In desperation I thrust a goldpiece upon one of the numbers at the head of a column. The wheel stopped, and the ball rolled into one of its compartments. The old man thrust several gold pieces toward me.

I staked again and again and won every time. Within five minutes the whole heap of gold pieces lay at my side.

The dotard looked at me with an expression of imbecile terror.

"You will give them back to me?" he pleaded.

I thrust the heap of coins toward him. "Now, M. Duchaine," I said; "in return for these you will conduct me to Mlle. Jacqueline."

"I am here, monsieur," answered a voice at the door, and I whirled, to see Jacqueline confronting me.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork. By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest, excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Tidiness, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood sparkle and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to slack work and lose in others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind, vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery, to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance, to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-Ten every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until full supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as strong before you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-Ten is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous rundown, weak, nervous men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT WILL DO FOR A CRIPPLED SOLDIER

Pay Disability Compensation as Long as Disability Lasts—Provide Artificial Limbs and Keep Them in Repair—Train the Crippled Soldier for Self-Help—How to Guard Against Forfeiture of Claim.

By DOUGLAS C. McMURTRIE.
(of the New York World.)

It is of great importance for every soldier who has been wounded to know that under the provisions of the bureau of war risk insurance, compensation will be paid for disability unless a claim for it is filed within five years after discharge or resignation from the service.

It is inevitable that a number of boys, careless about their future, will say, "The old leg feels all right again; guess I won't bother about filing any claim for my compensation."

They must be reminded that a wound may apparently heal and for the time being seem O. K., but after a few years there may be a relapse of the old trouble. If this occurs five years after the man's discharge from the army he will not be able to collect his compensation, because of failure to file his claim.

The only person entitled to receive compensation for disability is the man himself. In case of his death the widow, child and dependent mother benefit. Application must be made for compensation, as it is not payable automatically. For this purpose the bureau of war risk insurance has provided blank forms.

Under the provisions of the war risk insurance act compensation given for disability, whether it is complete or partial, will be paid during the time that such disability exists, whether it lasts for a month or a lifetime.

No compensation will be paid for death or disability occurring later than one year after a man leaves the service unless, after a medical examination made at the time of resignation or discharge or within a reasonable time thereafter (not exceeding one year), a certificate was secured from the bureau of war risk insurance to the effect that the man was then suffering from an injury or a disease likely to cause death or disability later.

Compensation is not assignable or subject to the claims of creditors. The military and naval authorities will provide the disabled man not only with ordinary medical care, but also with special treatment to put him in the best condition possible to return to work.

Educational Advantages.

While he is under treatment in reconstruction hospitals, maintained by the surgeon general, United States army, and the surgeon general, United States navy, he will be offered educational advantages which will promote his recovery, put his time to good use and improve his chances for the future. If he has lost an arm or a leg a temporary artificial limb will be furnished him at as early a date as possible while he is still in the hospital. Later a permanent artificial limb of the most modern type will be provided by the bureau of war risk insurance. It will be kept in repair and replaced when worn out as long as he lives at government expense.

After completion of treatment and discharge from the army or navy if he remains permanently disabled the bureau of war risk insurance will pay him until the end of his life disability compensation, which is intended as an aid in working out his future plans.

This compensation for disability is paid whether or not he has taken out a policy of war risk insurance.

After discharge from the service if he is disabled to any considerable degree so as to be entitled to compensation for disability, he is offered training for a skilled job in which his injury will not prevent his earning good wages. Experience of our allies has shown this to be entirely practicable.

Regardless of Earnings.

Compensation for permanent disability will not be reduced or in any way be affected by what he may be able to earn. It is determined by his physical injury alone. He may have earned before enlistment $20 a week, and be able after disability by reason of having taken a course of training, to earn $40 a week, yet his compensation will be paid him just the same.

Training after discharge will be provided him at government expense by the federal board for vocational education, charged by congress, with the responsibility of restoring him to self-support.

During the course of his training, in order that he may have no financial worries, he will receive either the same pay as during his last month in the service or his compensation for disability, whichever is larger. His family will continue to receive the same allotment and allowances as when he was in the service.

America has a great duty to perform for these war cripples. The cripple is not helpless, but capable, provided the right job is found for him and he is trained in preparation for it. Idleness is the calamity too great to be borne. So what the cripple needs is the chance to work and the encouragement to take advantage of it.

With our new responsibilities to the men disabled in fighting for us in this war we must make our influence a help rather than a hindrance. Put Them Back in the Game.

It is no kindness to reduce them to the ignominy of dependence on others, for that makes them "cripples" indeed. We must put them back in the game, make them useful, and in consequence make life well worth living again. Nothing short of this is a square deal to our men.

There are today many seriously crippled men—without legs, some even with both arms gone—who are doing their full share in the work of the world. But they had exceptional strength of character, to overcome the difficulties placed in their path.

With a fair chance many others could do the same. In this light the problem is hopeful rather than discouraging.

The cripple needs thorough training for a trade which he can follow and intelligent placement in employment. These the government will apply for the returning soldiers, but the responsibility for making this work effective rests with the public.

You can help make life worth while for our crippled soldiers:

By showing them real gratitude and respect, but avoiding hero worship or sentimental sympathy.

By expecting them to continue doing their duty and encouraging them in the effort.

By finding them real jobs, which they can hold down. If you are a worker, by seeking out positions in the shop or office which cripples can hold; if an employer, by reserving for cripples jobs they can properly fill, not as charity, but on the basis of competency alone.

By helping others to an intelligent and sensible view of the matter.

ALL FROM ONE TURKEY EGG

Here's Example of Taking Advantage of Opportunities Which Should Teach Good Lesson.

An old farmer and his son were at work in the field near the roadside when his son discovered a dead turkey, which probably was discarded by another farmer who was on his way to the market. Both were curious to learn the cause of its death. They brought the turkey to the barn, dissected the bird's body and obtained an egg. The boy set the egg and the result was a fine turkey gobble that was sold the next summer for $5. With this money the boy purchased a pig. The next summer the young capitalist sold his sow and eight pigs for $20. He then bought two thoroughbred heifers. The ensuing fall he had two milch cows and calves which he sold for $200. His final investment was in two one-year-old filly colts. After a lapse of five years the lad was the custodian of two good mares and $1,000 in gold, which he procured in the sale of their colts. And today this farmer's son is studying agriculture and animal husbandry in a state university as the result of one turkey egg.—Thrifty Magazine.

BABY WITHOUT BIRTHDAY

First Saw the Light on Ship That Was Coming Across Pacific.

A baby without a birthday! Impossible as it sounds, it is a perplexing fact in the life of Peter Heybroeck, now a month and a half old.

Peter was born in the China Mail liner Nanking on her December trip. The ship was crossing the one hundred and eightieth meridian. The day before had been December 24. Peter in the natural course of events, would have been a Christmas baby, but there was no December 25 on the Nanking. December 24 was followed immediately by December 26.

It's a well-known fact that a day is lost in crossing the Pacific ocean to the west. That lost day, apparently, was Peter's birthday. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heybroeck of New York.

WANTS HIS MONEY BACK

Wife Sues to Recover Husband's Pay Lost at Gambling.

Suit to recover her husband's alleged gambling losses, amounting to $5,425, was entered in court at Youngstown, O., the other day, by Mrs. Samuel Peacock against Fred Robertson, Tom Kelly, Jack Doherty and Elmer Longenecker. Mrs. Peacock's petition alleges that the money was lost between May 18 and June 3 in a game in a hotel there, and that under anti-gambling statutes a wife may sue to recover losses if her husband does not do so within six months.

Exploded Theory.

The married man concluded to try out his new theory. Addressing his spouse he said:

"My dear, I should like to go to Jones' tonight for several hours. Mr. Jones is not ill and does not require any sitting up with. If he did I should let his wife do it. Mrs. Jones is perfectly well, so far as I know, except for a certain itching for a poker game. He is notoriously a rotten poker player, and very likely could be picked for several dollars in the course of the evening. There might be something to drink—he did not specify concerning that. He only said my presence would be appreciated. I am sure that since I have told you the truth about this affair you will consent to my going. Am I right?"

He was not.—Kansas City Star.

CASE ONE FOR JURY

Judge Van Swearingen Thus Disposes of Bullskin Tax Dispute.

In two cases of Bullskin township against J. R. Rishbegar and others, in which judgments had been entered the judgments were opened by Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen in court Tuesday and the defendants were permitted to make defense. Rishbegar was the tax collector for the township and the other defendants were his bondsmen.

It was alleged by the township that Rishbegar had not made full settlement of his tax duplicates, and the judgments were entered on his bond for the amounts alleged to be due the township. Rishbegar alleged that he had made full settlement and did not owe the township anything. It was held by Judge Van Swearingen that the matter was one to be determined by a jury.

That Salvation Army Smile

Several thousand veterans of the Argonne Forest recently entered New York harbor. Among them were several badly wounded Marines. One man, easily distinguished because of a coat sleeve that dangled empty at his side and a Croix de Guerre, was making his way slowly to the waiting ambulance when a Salvation Army girl approached him and offered doughnuts and coffee. "Now I know I am home," he said. "Those doughnuts helped a whole lot over there, and first crack out of the box when we land, we did more waiting for us. The best thing about the Salvation Army work out near the front line was the smile that accompanied the gift. Those girls had a knack of wrapping up every doughnut and every cup of coffee in a smile. The doughnuts were fine, but the smile—that took the place of powdered sugar." The Salvation Army Home Service Fund Campaign for $13,000,000 opens May 19, to last one week.

SALVATION ARMY VALIANT IN WAR

Having Served Gloriously in the Trenches, Is Coming Back From Overseas for Peace Time Activities.

ASKS HOME SERVICE FUND.

National Campaign to Replenish Resources Depleted by Long and Direct Contact Services With Our Boys Scheduled for May 19-26.

New York (Special)—Like the 2,000,000 American boys whom it served so gloriously in the trenches of France, the Salvation Army is coming back from overseas, ready to put aside its khaki uniform of war service, don the "Civvie" and embark once more on its normal peace-time activities.

And, just like those doughboys, the Salvation Army has come out of the war victorious and with citations for bravery, decorations for gallantry and two and golden chevrons indicative of honorably won wounds on its arm. The victory which the Salvation Army has won is a victory over the obstacles that lay before it in its purpose of efficient service of the fighting men of the fighting army. Its citations are the thanks, cheers and prayers of 2,000,000 doughboys. Its wound stripes are rightfully golden of honor for the trophy the unselfish way in which the Army threw all its resources—financial, spiritual and moral—into the effort to help the American soldiers in France.

Now the Army is asking the people of America to give it concrete evidence of the gratitude which has been so loudly and so willingly expressed from May 19 to 26 the Salvation Army will conduct in the United States a campaign to raise $13,000,000 for its Home Service Fund. The money is needed both to repay the fortunes of the soldier and to permit it to carry on the work it has always done on the larger scale which the public now demands. Raising the money by this means, the Salvation Army explains, will eliminate, perhaps permanently, the necessity for the ceaseless solicitation of funds which has been a bugbear to the Army and the public alike. It will permit the workers of the Army, who, forced to devote more than half their time to gathering money, were in consequence only half efficient in their evangelistic and social service work to devote all their time in future to the duties for which they have been trained.

The amount of the fund has been determined exactly and logically by means of budgets prepared locally by workers of the Salvation Army in all parts of the United States.

Already headquarters for the campaign have been established in New York City. A ready response in encouragement and cheering wishes for success has been heard from all parts of the country. Men and women prominent in all walks of life have volunteered their services as active participants in the drive. The Army's 4,000,000 loyal rosters—the boys who went overseas in khaki—are all lined up ready to help. The Army not only helped them over there, but it found jobs for many of them after they had been mustered out of service, helped them get the civilian clothing that was necessary if they wanted to take those jobs; fed many of them, gave them shelter and furnished them with transportation to their homes.

For the war service of the Salvation Army is still under way. Its workers are still, many of them, in France, and its huts, clubhouses and hotels, for the reception of the boys returning from abroad are in full swing here.

Neither, the Salvation Army asserts, will its war work be abandoned until the last boy is out of the clasp of the army or the blue of the navy. The

LLOYD GEORGE PRAISES "ARMY."

Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, received the following letter from David Lloyd George:

"British Delegation, Paris, April 8, 1919.

"Dear Madam—I have very great pleasure in sending you this letter to say how highly I think of the great work which has been done by the Salvation Army amongst the Allied Armies in France and the other theaters of war. From all sides I hear the most glowing accounts of the way in which your people have added to the comfort and welfare of our soldiers. To me it has always been a great joy to think how much the sufferings and hardships endured by our troops in all parts of the world have been lessened by the self-sacrifice and devotion shown to them by that excellent organization, the Salvation Army. Yours faithfully,

CARDINAL GIBBONS ENDORSES S. A. DRIVE

Venerable Churchman Expresses Hope That $13,000,000 Will Be Raised.

The following letter was addressed to former Governor Whitman of New York state by Cardinal Gibbons:

"Honorable and Dear Sir—I have been asked by the local Commander of the Salvation Army to address a word to you as National Chairman of the Campaign about to be launched in behalf of the above named organization. This I am happy to do, and for the reason that along with my fellow American citizens I rejoice in the splendid service which the Salvation Army rendered our soldier and sailor boys during the war. Every returning trooper is a willing witness to the efficient and generous work of the Salvation Army both at the front and in the camps at home. I am also the more happy to commend this organization, because it is free from sectarian bias. The use in need of help is the object of their effort, with never a question of his creed or color.

"I trust, therefore, your efforts to raise $13,000,000 for the Salvation Army will meet with a hearty response from our generous public. Faithfully yours,

"J. CARD. GIBBONS."

Liked Their Suits. Little Bobbie Swinford, who lives at New Augusta, Ind., has, at the age of two and a half years, become a very enthusiastic basketball fan. A few evenings ago, the visiting team came into the gymnasium for a little goal practice, wearing the customary basketball garb. The color being very fascinating and the cut of the suit looking to Bobbie like something he had seen before, he turned to his mother and said, "I think they got pretty underwear."

ENGLISH AS WORLD LANGUAGE

Writer Sees Strong Indication of Its Supremacy as One Result of the Great War.

All the indications are that the universal language will be English. The formal draft of the treaty of Versailles will be couched in the traditional language of diplomacy, the language of Foch and Clemenceau, but the discussions at Paris and Versailles were in the tongue which President Wilson and most of our peace delegates have kept at their disposal. Perhaps it is no compliment to us that the European peace-makers should be in a position to meet us more than half way in the matter of foreign tongues, but the fact is there.

The French language will prosper after the war. In more or less perfect form it will be brought back to America, to Australia, to Canada, to South Africa, by soldiers and auxiliary war workers to the number of many tens of thousands. But for every Anglo-Saxon whom the war has taught French it is a safe guess that there are a hundred mid-Europeans to whom as a result of the war, emphasizing already existing conditions, the English tongue will be brought close to home. Because the new Czechoslovakia must be in intimate touch with a million Czechs and Slovaks in the United States, because there are several million Poles in this country, because every one of the new nationalities in central Europe looks in the first place to these United States, the American language will be familiar among all foreign languages to these people. For that matter, the numerous commissions and propaganda of mid-Europe which have been busy in the United States will have brought back with them the use, if not the idiom, of our language—Exchange.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allenzhu Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pains and Tringes.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times the terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities commonly uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles, and expelled from his system.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Connellsville Drug Co., can supply you.—Adv.

RIGOROUS RATE OF RESTRICTION NOT NECESSARY TO BE APPLIED

Merchant Operators As in the Earlier Days of the Slump.

MAKING NO SURPLUS COKE

Closely Have Requirements of the Market Been Gauged; Furnace Interests at Low Point in Oven Actity, Raising Only 23 Per Cent Fall.

From The Weekly Courier.

The merchant coke operators continue to hold whatever advantage, if any, may arise from having brought oven operation into closer relation to coke requirements. That is, these interests find it unnecessary to continue the same rigorous rate of restriction they applied some weeks ago as a means of preventing production exceeding demand. It was a rather long race, with some steep grades to descend, but apparently the road has been successfully and safely negotiated. At any rate, the product of the 5,440 merchant ovens now in active operation is being absorbed on existing contracts without leaving any surplus stock to hamper hard movement of the coke to the shipping departments in efforts to find destinations for uncommitted cars. Conditions now make it easier to keep proper limitations on production and thus the merchant operators are doing without being obliged to make as heavy cuts in the active oven list as they did earlier in the slump period.

Having added but 167 ovens to the list last week, the producing ovens of the merchant operators now represent 42 per cent of the total. In contrast the furnace plants have reduced to 5,214 ovens, or but 23 per cent of their equipment. Not all of the non-producing ovens are out of blast, however. It being the present policy of the H. C. Frick Coke company to bank ovens for a week instead of placing them out of commission altogether. The result, as shown in the production figures, is practically the same in either case, but the advantage in the case of banking lies with having the ovens in condition to continue production after the slow charge is drawn. Instead of the slow and wasteful process of firing up cold ovens, once a plant is put out of blast completely.

With the further reduction of 507 in the number of its inactive ovens

COKE TRADE SUMMARY.

The stiffening in the market for spot furnace coke doubtless is the reflex of the condition arising from the more secure grip the region as a whole and the merchant operators in particular have secured on the situation. After a long period of retrenchment, severe at times, it is apparent that the bottom has been reached. Such is the prevalent belief and it is borne out by the developments of the last week, when the curtailment in the number of active ovens was much less at the merchant plants than in earlier weeks and very much less than the curtailment ordered by the furnace interests during the same period. Thus the latter, by placing 473 ovens out of commission, or banking them, have but a total of 5,214 active as compared with 5,440 at plants of the merchant interests. Because of the heavy reduction in the active furnace ovens, list in the week preceding output made a drop of 22,000 tons to a new low level of 100,980 tons. Now that the output of the region, particularly of the merchant ovens, is being absorbed as fast as made, and no surplus is being accumulated, there is a general feeling of relief and with a hopefulness that just as soon as the processes of readjustment in industry have been worked out an era will dawn characterized by a steady demand and a fair price for coke.

The spot furnace market continues to suffer from the lack of interest in picking up coke at $1.75 than they did a few weeks ago at $3.45.

At the plants the H. C. Frick Coke company now has but one coke producing plant out of 12 in operation in the Lower Connellsville district. Shipments of by-product coke are being made from many of the plants in this district, but coke making is at present limited to the 160 ovens in blast at Buffington. In the Connellsville district 21 out of the 45 plants of this company are engaged in making coke with considerably less than half the ovens active.

Of the 61 merchant plants in the Lower Connellsville district 33 are idle while of the 20 in the Connellsville district 10 belong to the same category. The condition of plants in both districts is shown by the following tabulations:

FURNACE PLANTS.
District.	No.	Active	Inact.
Connellsville	50	25	25
Lower Conn.	20	6	14
Totals	70	31	39

There is a feeling of satisfaction in the region generally over the conditions and outlook. Relief, too, that the strain of the recent what is believed is rock bottom has been made without other than minor casualties. There is also a willingness to take a test after the strenuous campaign of the past two years. Certain pleasurable sensations are being experienced over the prospect that when the readjustment processes have been worked out a normal order will be restored accompanied by a steady demand and a fair price for coke.

The production estimates for the week ending Saturday, May 10, reflect the heavy cut made late in the week previous in the number of active ovens at the furnace plants, the tonnage having dropped to 100,980, divided between the districts as follows: Connellsville, 59,645, a decrease of 29,471 tons; Lower Connellsville, 41,335, a decrease of 3,155 tons, or a total decrease of 32,626 tons.

By interests the production was: Furnace, 58,465, a decrease of 31,767 tons; merchant, 42,515, a decrease of 889 tons. Coal movement, largely for railroad fuel, continues in fair volume, all things considered. On the comparatively few by-product coal contracts now in force shipments run about 50 per cent of stated requirements.

Japanese Coal Production.

The output of Japan's coal mines during the last seven years was: 1912, 15,709,663 tons; 1913, 17,050,267 tons; 1914, 17,260,361 tons; 1915, 15,488,828 tons; 1916, 17,476,803 tons; 1917, 19,887,147 tons; and 1918 (estimated) 20,835,254 tons. Steam lump coal is quoted at 25 yen ($12.95) per ton at Moji.
